

Venue – Mathematikon

The venue of our meeting is unique. The Mathematikon is one of the most recently constructed buildings of Heidelberg University, aiming at fostering inter and transdisciplinary research at the highest level. As a common place for science and research, industry, and culture, it is more than just its parts. The building accommodates, among others, the Interdisciplinary Center for Scientific Computing.

Im Neuenheimer Feld 205, 69120 Heidelberg

Poster Session on Tuesday

Are you looking for new collaborations? Does your collaboration need any particular expertise?

Present a short poster “I am looking for collaborations/collaborators ...”

BASF Ludwigshafen

The Ludwigshafen site is the world’s largest integrated chemical complex. The site hosts 2,000 buildings, 2850 km of pipes and 106 km of streets.

Schwetzingen Palace

The palace was built in its current form in the 17th century. There are several wonderful gardens next to the palace, which reflect different styles and different epochs.

Kulturbrauerei

The beer brewing tradition at this place dates back to the 18th century. Even today's beer of the brewery is neither pasteurized nor filtered, which creates their one-of-a-kind, natural, fresh taste.

Wirtshaus ‘Zum Seppi’

The restaurant is situated in the historical centre of Heidelberg, in the neighbourhood of timber-framed buildings and narrow streets.
